Teacher Appreciation Day

Mrs. Funk opened the classroom door, ready to start another day with her class. She carried a very full bag of papers she had graded the night before, plus a special snack she had brought in for math that afternoon. As she checked her email, Mrs. Funk sipped her coffee.

Just then, one of her students came in. Jesse went right to Mrs. Funk's desk and handed her a large vase. Strangely, it was empty, but she smiled and thanked him. A minute later, Neveah handed a single rose to her teacher. "Oh, how pretty!" gushed Mrs. Funk.

As more students came into the classroom, she noticed they each had a flower. Quickly, her vase was filled with a huge bunch of flowers in all sizes and colors. It was beautiful, and Mrs. Funk was touched.

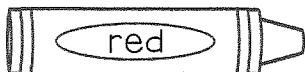

Finally, the last student arrived for the day with a carefully folded origami flower. "Mrs. Funk, keep this to remember us- because we will always remember you! Thank you for being a great teacher and helping us learn so much!" Holding the flower, Mrs. Funk wiped a tear from her eye. She knew she would never forget them, either.
